ON THE COVER

Two years after sustaining a traumatic brain injury, six-year-old Conner Miles is now happy and healthy thanks to the life-saving care he received at McLeod Health Dillon and McLeod Regional Medical Center. To ensure the best possible care for pediatric patients like Conner, Ruiz Foods recently made a major commitment to the McLeod Health Foundation's capital campaign to expand McLeod Children's Hospital. Honoring Your Healthcare Hero

A Simple Smile Can Make a Difference

As Ed Jenkins will tell you, what makes a top-notch nurse is so much more than simply medical expertise.

Ed was overjoyed when he learned about the McLeod Foundation's new Healthcare Hero Program. As a Foundation supporter, he was pleased that he could make a gift to help others, while at the same time honoring the extraordinary care and compassion he received.

You see, the nurses that took care of Ed during his recent surgery and hospital stay left a lasting impression on him.

"The four nurses I recognized as my Healthcare Heroes, went above and beyond in every single incident," said Ed.

"From their smiling faces when I woke up, to their genuine concern for my well-being, I knew I wanted to give back in their honor."

Ed was pleased to learn that the nurses would be formally recognized as Healthcare Heroes at a staff meeting in front of their peers. When a caregiver is honored, they are given a specially-designed Healthcare Hero lapel pin and certificate.

Often, the heroic and compassionate work provided by front-line staff, while appreciated, is not acknowledged.

The Healthcare Heroes program allow patients and family members to easily express appreciation and honor those who have given special care.

Emily Holland, one of the nurses honored shares, "It was my pleasure to care for Mr. Jenkins. I treat all of my patients this way but it was especially nice to be recognized in a way that helps others, too."

"These nurses give far more than I do," Ed said of his Healthcare Heroes. "Their positive attitudes, their caring spirit, and their smiling faces -- no matter what shape you are in -- are as crucial to your recovery as your actual medical treatment.

A simple smile really can make a difference, he added gratefully.

If you would like to honor that special nurse, physician or other staff member who has been exceptional to you or your loved one, please visit: www.McLeodHealthcareHero.org or call the McLeod Foundation office at 843-777-2694.

Ed Jenkins and his wife, Anne, were pleased to give back through the Healthcare Hero program to honor special caregivers like Emily Holland.

EVERLASTING SUPPORT FOR McLeod Hospice

Endowed Gift Honors the Memory of a Beloved Sister

As a long-time leader at McLeod Health, Teresa Anderson thought she understood the value of the McLeod Hospice program.

Yet in 2011, her family experienced this compassionate care in a new, very personal way. Teresa's sister, Margaret Cantey, was admitted to the Hospice House after a brave nearly seven-year struggle with ovarian cancer.

Through this experience, Teresa truly understands what hospice care can mean for a family. She remembers the support and genuine caring from the team at the McLeod Hospice House. The rooms were comfortable and allowed for special moments between sisters. She especially recalls how the staff was able to help her understand and cope with this time of transition. Margaret was also able to comfort Teresa by telling her, "Don't worry, I will be okay."

Teresa and her husband, James, have been long-time supporters and advocates for the McLeod Foundation. Now, it is so much more personal.

Following Margaret's passing, they generously began a tradition of sponsoring the McLeod Hospice Tree Lighting each year in her memory.

"In our family, we were raised to know God's blessings are meant to help others," says Teresa with conviction.

In 2016, when Teresa learned that the Foundation had established McLeod Hospice Tree Lighting Sponsor Endowments, she immediately agreed to fund an endowment in memory of her cherished sister.

James and Teresa Anderson attend the annual McLeod Hospice Tree Lighting. They funded an endowed sponsorship in memory of Teresa's sister, Margaret.

She and James continue to be an influential presence at the Tree Lighting ceremony each year. They are comforted to know that their gift of support will be available to provide care for hospice patients and their families for years to come.

Tree Lighting Sponsor Endowments give donors the opportunity to honor their loved one while ensuring annual support for the hospice program. Endowments are established with a commitment of $25,000. The earnings generate an annual gift benefitting McLeod Hospice patients and families.

SPECIAL DELIVERY

How a Simple Act Impacts the Lives of Others

Every day, Dr. Joe Heyward walks down his driveway to check the mail. “We can hear the mail truck pulling up,” said Dr. Heyward, “so we know the mail has arrived.”

When he opens the mailbox to find an envelope from the McLeod Foundation, Dr. Heyward doesn't just see a piece of mail. He sees an opportunity.

“It's a reminder that there's a need out there,” Dr. Heyward explained. “And I have the opportunity to help meet that need.”

Throughout his life, Dr. Heyward has always worked hard to meet the needs of others. He's served abroad in the military. He's been a high school teacher, a principal, and a college administrator. He sits on several community boards (including two different boards at McLeod), is active in his church and is a member of Rotary and the NAACP.

“My wife says that I don't know what the word ‘no’ is,” Dr. Heyward said regarding his many roles in the community and the effort he puts into each of them.

Giving to McLeod, on the other hand, is probably the easiest thing he does.

“It's really simple,” Dr. Heyward said of responding to the requests. “I just open it, see if the cause is something I believe in, put it in my ‘must pay’ file, then send a check.”

The McLeod Foundation regularly makes it into Dr. Heyward's “must pay” file... he has responded to the Foundation's direct mail for 17 consecutive years.

“In college, my fraternity's motto was ‘service above self.’ I've always tried to live that,” Dr. Heyward explained. “Having been a patient at McLeod and a member of McLeod Men and McLeod Fellows, I know there are many who could benefit from financial support for the care they need. It's a blessing to be able to give back and help them.”

Tributes of LOVE

Remembering Loved Ones Can Provide Care for Others

Inspired by their appreciation for the compassionate and specialized hospice care that has touched their family on many occasions, the Betheas remain committed to supporting services through the McLeod Foundation.

Charles and Frances Bethea's consistent tribute gifts make a significant impact on the program that has touched their hearts.

In 1990, Frances and Charlie Bethea made their first tribute gift to McLeod Hospice honoring the memory of a loved one. This began their history of giving to the McLeod Foundation that has lasted more than 30 years.

When faced with the greatest tragedy imaginable for a parent -- the loss of their precious son -- McLeod Hospice Bereavement was there to provide comfort and strength for healing. Frankie and Jessie Tanner, McLeod Hospice Chaplains, helped them through their most difficult time of grief. For that, they will be forever grateful.

When Frances' uncle was diagnosed with terminal cancer, he was referred to McLeod Hospice in-home care. His hospice team made it possible for him to live the remainder of his life as he wished -- at home with loving family by his side.

In addition to their regular tribute giving, the Betheas also make gifts honoring friends and neighbors during the McLeod Hospice Tree Lighting. They attend the Tree Lighting ceremony every year, knowing they have helped patients and families.

Charlie and Frances have found consistent tribute giving very gratifying. “We are pleased to know that throughout the year, our gifts add up to make a significant impact on the program that has touched our hearts while honoring the memory of those who have touched our lives,” shares Charlie.

Supporting Worthy Causes with Your IRA

When Jeannette Glenn met with her financial advisor, she was given a choice. It was time for her to start receiving distributions from her IRA. She could either receive these distributions as income -- and pay a hefty tax -- or avoid taxes and help others by giving the distributions to charity.

For Jeannette, the choice was easy.

Jeannette has been giving her entire life. She started as a child, enthusiastically dropping pennies into the offering plate at church. When she grew up, she became a nurse, giving love and care to patients at McLeod.

Jeannette contributes to patient care financially as well -- she has given to the McLeod Foundation for 26 consecutive years.

"The Bible says, to whom much is given, much will be required," Jeannette said. "God has been good to me. So, the little bit I have to give, I will give."

When she was a nurse at the old McLeod Infirmary, Jeannette saw family members sleep under their loved ones' hospital beds, just to stay close to them. This sparked her passion for giving to The Guest House at McLeod, which provides patient families with a comfortable place to stay right on the McLeod Regional Medical Center campus.

Caring for her daughter and husband, who both fought cancer, motivated Jeannette to support the McLeod Center for Cancer Treatment and Research.

And now, Jeannette uses her IRA to fund several different McLeod Foundation initiatives.

"Contributing with my IRA allows me to make an impact at McLeod and stay within my budget," explained Jeannette.

"I've come a long way from putting pennies in the offering plate," she added with a smile.

Contributing with her IRA allows Jeannette Glenn to make an impact at McLeod while staying within her budget.

A Gift in Our WILL

Ordinary People Accomplishing the Extraordinary

Each day, patients from all walks of life turn to McLeod Health in illness and injury. Tired, frightened, and often with few resources, they all receive care.

These patients serve as the inspiration for Joan and John Billheimer.

Joan and John have been dedicated donors to the McLeod Foundation for 27 years. Joan serves on the Board of Trustees and specializes in connecting Florence newcomers with the work of the Foundation.

Joan and John also rely on McLeod for their healthcare and it is important to them for all to have access to excellent care.

It was a perfect extension of their generosity to include a gift in their will in order to benefit patients who may receive care from McLeod in the future.

Providing access was the motivation for Joan's most memorable work with the Foundation. She co-chaired the campaign to fund the McLeod Mobile Mammography Unit. This successful campaign ensured that time and distance would not be a barrier for women who need this critical test for early detection. When breast cancer is caught in the early stages, lives are saved.

As a breast cancer survivor, Joan is gratified to know that because of the Mobile Unit more than 25,000 women have had access to this life-saving screening.

"It means so much to us that women throughout our region receive the most advanced technology to detect breast cancer in its earliest stages. We know that lives have been saved because of generous donors," Joan said.

Joan and John know that ordinary people, such as themselves, can do extraordinary things by simply planning a gift in their wills.

Like Joan and John, you may wish to include a gift in your will to help patients and their families. To learn how simple this can be, call Roxanna Prezioso at the McLeod Foundation, 843-777-2694 or visit www.mcleodhealthlegacy.org.

For Joan and John Billheimer, a gift in their will for the McLeod Foundation is a perfect extension of their generosity.

Building a Better Future for Children

In 2014, when Ruiz Foods Products announced they would be coming to Florence, they made a generous gift to McLeod Children's Hospital.

Recently, as Ruiz Foods began making expansion plans, they knew they wanted to reaffirm this commitment to the youngest and most vulnerable members of our community.

Leaders at the company were looking for that perfect opportunity to make an impact.

Soon, that opportunity would present itself.

At the same time Ruiz Foods was finalizing their plans, McLeod Children's Hospital was making expansion plans of their own.

Kim Ruiz Beck and her brother, Matthew Ruiz, enjoy spending time with Conner Miles knowing that Ruiz Foods commitment to McLeod Children's Hospital helped him survive.

To ensure the best possible care for our youngest patients, the Children's Hospital needed to grow. So, the McLeod Foundation initiated a capital campaign to raise funds in support of this effort.

When the team at Ruiz first learned of these plans, they quickly jumpstarted the campaign with a major commitment of $100,000.

"One of the biggest joys of our success is the ability to give back," shared Kim Ruiz Beck, Chairman of the Board of Ruiz Foods. "We're proud to support programs serving children in the communities where we live and work.

"Children's Hospitals have been near and dear to our hearts," she continued. "My middle son was born with fluid in his lungs and was treated at a Children's Hospital. My sister's son had a heart murmur, which required surgery at a Children's Hospital. And my brother Matt's first child was recently born at a Children's Hospital.

"We do everything we can for children -- it's important to care for our community's smallest and most fragile citizens," she added.

Ruiz Foods Leaders Develop Special Bond with Children's Hospital Patient

Kim and her brother, Matthew, recently visited McLeod Children's Hospital and met a very special boy.

In 2017, four-year-old Conner Miles, of Latta, was seriously injured when a hail storm uprooted a 100-year-old tree and sent it crashing through the roof of his family's home. After his father frantically pulled him from under the tree and debris, Conner was rushed to the McLeod Health Dillon Emergency Department.

His small skull fractured and his brain severely bleeding, doctors immediately transferred Conner to McLeod Children's Hospital for emergency brain surgery. As his family anxiously travelled down I-95 to Florence, they wondered if their son would survive the devastating injury.

Conner underwent major brain surgery, followed by 20 long days of specialized care in the Pediatric Intensive Care Unit. His recovery was slow but steady due to caring hands and hearts of an expert pediatric team and his sheer will to improve.

Today, he is a healthy, happy six-year-old who loves sports, especially football.

The Miles family is incredibly grateful to donors like you whose support made this care available in our region. Without you, Conner may not have survived.

EMPLOYEE GIVING: COMING FULL CIRCLE

Gleve Huckabee's Journey from Employee to Donor to Patient

Gleve Huckabee has seen McLeod Health from just about every angle.

She's been a McLeod employee since 1992, spending the last 19 years as a nurse in Cardiac Rehabilitation. She works every day to help her patients recover from heart attacks and heart surgery.

But Gleve's dedication to her patients goes beyond her job description. For 16 consecutive years, she has contributed to the McLeod Foundation Employee Campaign.

Her gifts help ensure that patients with limited financial resources receive the life-saving care provided by Cardiac Rehab.

"I have been giving for so long that it has become second nature to me," Gleve said. "I see my gift in the faces of every patient I serve."

Last year, Gleve's experience with McLeod came full circle when she was diagnosed with breast cancer.

During a routine mammogram McLeod Radiologists detected a suspicious area. A biopsy came back negative, however, the doctors were not satisfied. They persisted, and Gleve required surgery. A subsequent biopsy revealed that it was indeed breast cancer.

Gleve received treatment at the McLeod Center for Cancer Treatment and Research and is pleased to tell you she is now cancer free.

"Going from caregiver to care receiver was a new experience for me," Gleve recalled. "I feel blessed that we have such a great team of physicians at McLeod. Without their dedication, I would have never known I had breast cancer."

Gleve Huckabee sees the impact of her gifts through Employee Campaign in the faces of her patients like Chic Mercuri.

Gleve's experience as a patient did not diminish her passion to help others or her giving spirit.

Today, she is already back at work helping her patients recover from their own challenges.

And she never stopped supporting the McLeod Foundation.

"I know how many patients benefit from the Employee Campaign," Gleve explained. "I'm honored to be part of it."

THE GIFT OF TIME

Jeri McCumbee Volunteers to Improve Healthcare for Her Community

A lifelong resident of Horry County, Jeri McCumbee has witnessed the ebb and flow of changes along the coast. Working in the healthcare industry for more than 20 years, she has seen more changes than most.

One thing that hasn't changed, Jeri says, is the importance of having quality healthcare in your local community.

"I watch new medical issues come up every day," Jeri said.

"I have five children and two grandchildren. Having a quality medical center is vital not only to my neighbors and my patients, but to my loved ones and family as well. The success of our local hospital plays a significant role in the overall success of our community."

When McLeod Health merged with Loris Seacoast Healthcare System, Jeri knew that the success of this partnership would be crucial for Horry County.

That is the reason she volunteered to serve on the McLeod Loris Seacoast Foundation Board.

But to Jeri, volunteering goes beyond serving on the Board.

Jeri gives generously in a variety of ways -- financially, and with her talents and time. She actively serves on the McLeod Seacoast Golf committee, which raises crucial funds for cancer services. She is a McLeod Seacoast Fellows graduate, and was named the McLeod Foundation's Volunteer of the Year.

Jeri truly does it all. She speaks with local business leaders to secure sponsorships for events on one day, and the next you'll find her working with her hands, crafting decorations for that event.

There is no request too big or too small.

"McLeod has opened doors of growth and opportunity for improved healthcare in our community," stated Jeri. "We have been able to accomplish much more than we ever thought possible."

Volunteers are crucial to the Foundation's work. To learn the different ways you can give your gift of time, contact Jill Bramblett at jbramblett@mcleodfoundation.org, or 843-777-2694.

Jeri McCumbee does it all in her efforts to help her local community. From meeting with local business leaders to secure event sponsorships, to crafting decorations for those events, there is no act of service too big or too small for Jeri.

Award-Winning Fundraising Efforts FOR McLEOD CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

Resort Makes the Hospital Less Frightening for Children

Children's Miracle Network Hospitals (CMNH) raises funds for 170 children's hospitals throughout the United States and Canada. For nearly four decades, Marriott has remained a committed and generous partner to CMNH, raising money for the children's hospitals in their local communities.

As the only CMN hospital in our region, McLeod Children's Hospital benefits enormously from this partnership.

This past year, Marriott Ocean Watch Resort, in Myrtle Beach, went above and beyond to make the McLeod Children's Hospital a less scary place.

It began with a tour of the McLeod Children's Hospital.

In recognition of their hard work for McLeod Children's Hospital, Marriott Ocean Watch Resort took home the first CMN Hospitals Legacy Award.

The Ocean Watch Resort team learned of a new medical device that the Children's Hospital needed to enhance patient care: vein viewers.

Vein viewers make hospital stays a lot easier for kids. By illuminating veins and making them easier to see, these devices virtually eliminate painful misplaced needle sticks.

When the team learned how the kids at McLeod would benefit from this technology, they quickly jumped on board to raise the funds needed to purchase the vein viewers.

What started off as a $40,000 goal quickly grew as the Marriott Ocean Watch Team raised more than $55,000.

Recently, Marriott Ocean Watch Resort received the first CMN Hospitals Legacy Award for their teamwork, creativity in fundraising, and commitment to McLeod Children's Hospital.

CARRYING ON A LEGACY

Raines Hospitality has managed Marriott properties in the Florence area for many years. Like Marriott, they are committed to supporting children's healthcare in the region.

The late Mark Raines, one of the founders of Raines Hospitality, was a loyal supporter of the McLeod Children's Hospital until he passed away in 2015. Every year, he looked forward to his favorite way to raise funds, the Annual Raines Hospitality Hot Dog Eating Contest.

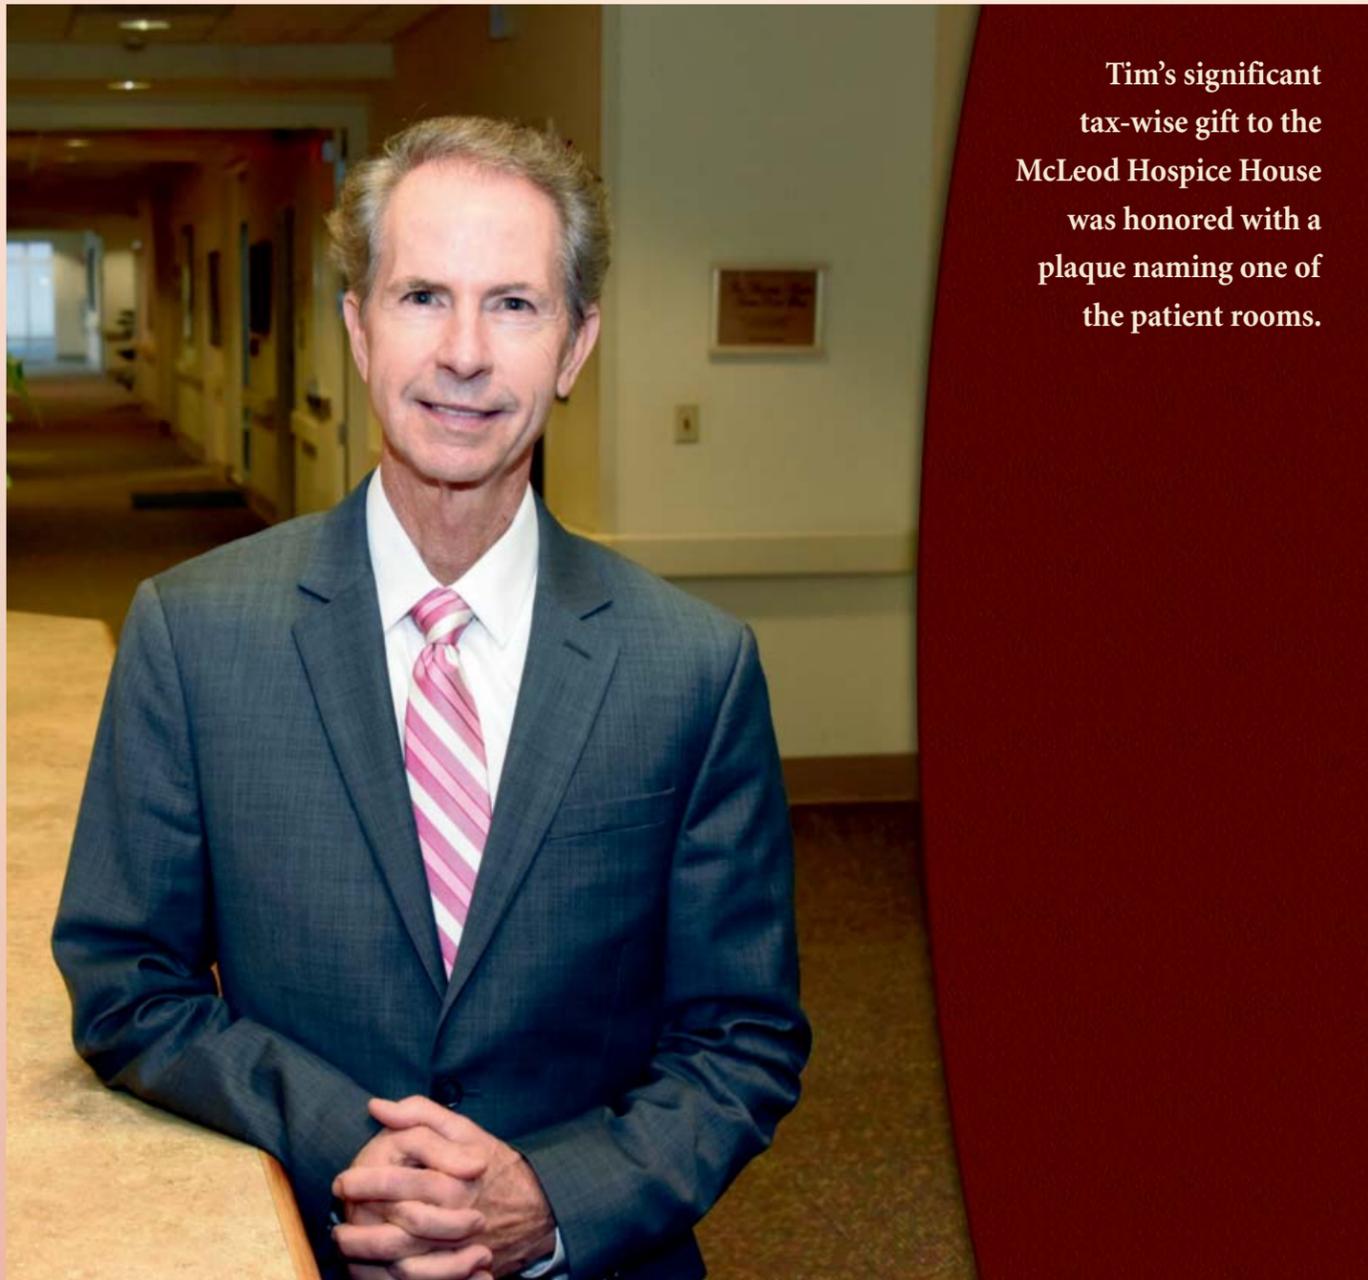

Inspired by Mark's generosity and love of children, his wife, Chrisie, and son, Grey, keep the yearly tradition alive. The 2018 Raines Hospitality Hot Dog Eating Contest raised $10,000 to support McLeod Children's Hospital.

Chrisie and Grey Raines continue to support McLeod Children's Hospital as a CMNH National Sponsor in the tradition established by the late Mark Raines.

WISE INVESTMENTS BENEFIT FAMILIES AT MCLEOD HOSPICE HOUSE

How Your Appreciated Stocks Can Be Used for Good

Tim's significant tax-wise gift to the McLeod Hospice House was honored with a plaque naming one of the patient rooms.

Tim Cunningham is always deliberate with financial decisions.

When the longtime financial advisor and Chairman of the McLeod Health Foundation Board learned that McLeod would be building the first inpatient hospice facility in the region, he decided to make a tax-wise gift of stock shares that had grown in value over the years.

Tim knew he wanted to make a significant gift because of an early family experience. At the tender age of 23, Tim experienced first-hand the benefits of hospice care when his brother passed away from cancer.

It would not be long before he would learn just how big an impact his gift had on others.

"One day, I was at my daughter's school," Tim recalled. "Someone deliberately made their way to me and said, 'My mother was a patient at the McLeod Hospice House. She spent her remaining hours with us in comfort in the room you named. This special facility meant so much to my family and I wanted to thank you.'"

Her story made Tim realize how his gift had already touched others, even those he has never met. The opportunity to "name a room" through a financial contribution made a powerful impact.

Several years later, Tim's mother, Billie, became ill. A longtime McLeod volunteer, she had given so much of herself to others. Billie's final days, too, would be dignified by the compassionate care she received at the McLeod Hospice House.

When Tim arrived to be with her, he was delighted that she had been placed in the room he named. Tim knew his mother would have wanted to be in "his" room, holding his hand during her final journey.

"Mom was always so proud of my support of the Hospice House," Tim said. It was a comfort to him that this would be a special tribute to her, where she spent her last moments with her son at her side, in a room that would honor her legacy of love and service.

In addition to helping others, giving your appreciated stock shares to the McLeod Foundation offers several benefits to YOU.

- You can give more without impacting income.
- You can receive income tax savings as a charitable deduction.
- You can avoid capital gains tax on the sale of your appreciated assets.

Battling Against a HEALTHCARE CRISIS

A Grant from Marion County Foundation Helps the Most Vulnerable Victims of the Opioid Epidemic

The devastation caused by the opioid epidemic is well known. But what many do not know, is the story of the epidemic's smallest victims. Every year, hundreds of babies are born at McLeod dependent on drugs present in their mothers' systems at birth.

"It's heartbreaking to see the number of babies born in this condition.

"One-day old and already addicted... unable to sleep, crying 22 hours out of the day," states Pete Mazzaroni, the Executive Director of the Marion County Healthcare Foundation.

The Marion County Healthcare Foundation is dedicated to supporting the health and well-being of Marion County, which has been hit especially hard by the opioid crisis.

Pete knows that McLeod's ability to treat opioid-dependent babies is crucial for Marion County.

"This crisis knows no boundaries," he added.

For this reason, the Marion County Healthcare Foundation Board approved a grant of $48,732 to help McLeod improve the treatment of drug-dependent babies.

"From educating medical staff throughout the region on how to recognize and address the issue to improving how the hospitals respond with treatment, we know this funding will have a major impact," explained Dianne Herrington, Chair of the Marion County Healthcare Foundation Board.

Securing grant funding is instrumental in addressing many of the pressing issues facing healthcare today. Without these significant commitments from granting foundations, dreams for the programs that improve the health of our communities may go unfunded.

Dianne Herrington and Pete Mazzaroni of the Marion County Healthcare Foundation, visit the McLeod NICU knowing their grants have helped treat babies from Marion County.

Giving HOPE

Local Business Leader Inspires Event Sponsorship

The McLeod Foundation Evening of Hope Cancer Benefit has excelled at sharing the message of HOPE to sold-out audiences, while raising record-breaking funds to benefit cancer patients through the HOPE (Helping Oncology Patients Everyday) Fund.

The HOPE Fund, established in 2014, provides direct patient support for those undergoing cancer treatment.

An Evening of Hope event sponsors, attendees and contributors know that their donations help patients who are struggling with financial barriers to care as well as providing resources for every patient on their tenuous cancer journey.

Often, the motivation for this support is very personal.

Robby Roberson, Vice President of East Coast Distribution at Harbor Freight Tools in Dillon, is passionate about his company's support for cancer patients at the McLeod Center for Cancer Treatment and Research because he shares in that very personal journey.

"I am a cancer survivor, so I have a real connection with the people the HOPE Fund benefits," Robby said.

Robby understands the difficulty of coping with a diagnosis of cancer.

He is aware of how nearly impossible it is to battle cancer if you lack the financial means.

"There are so many who don't have the sufficient financial resources available and we want to help them," explains Robby.

Harbor Freight shares Robby's outlook on giving back. That support alleviates some of the burden of treatment and recovery. When Robby went to corporate leadership in California to get their blessing on sponsoring the event, it wasn't a hard sell.

"Our owner, Eric Smidt is very community focused," Robby explains. "He relies upon those of us in the field to suggest how our philanthropy should be directed. Because of my own experience at McLeod and my reflections on excellent care, he was in favor of supporting the cancer benefit."

Harbor Freight has provided major sponsorship for An Evening of Hope for several years. Robby looks forward to continuing their partnership in this event for the benefit of McLeod cancer patients.

Robby Roberson, a cancer survivor, guides Harbor Freight's generous sponsorship of An Evening of Hope Cancer Benefit knowing they are helping alleviate the financial burdens of patients battling cancer.

Employee Giving Raises More Than $1.5 Million

The continued dedication and support of McLeod Employees is vitally important to the McLeod Health Foundation. The largest group of donors to the Foundation, McLeod Employees have raised more than $11 million through the Annual Employee Campaign since the Foundation was established in 1986.

In 2018, McLeod Employees raised $1,506,242, demonstrating how dedicated they are to serving patients in ways beyond their job description. This amount represents more than 3,500 employees who participated in the annual campaign to raise funds to support the programs and services of McLeod Health.

“The participation of our employees greatly enhances the outstanding level of care for which McLeod Health is known,” said Jill Bramblett, Executive Director. “Their donations reflect how much our McLeod family believes in and supports the mission of the McLeod Foundation.”

The importance of this support is evident in the McLeod Cancer Center, McLeod Hospice, McLeod Children’s Hospital, McLeod Diabetes Center, and many other programs that the Foundation funds to care for the well-being of people living in the 15-county region McLeod Health serves.

To wrap up the Annual Employee Campaign, the McLeod Foundation recently honored those individuals who inspired participation in the 2018 campaign.

The Foundation also presented the Spirit of Giving award to Emergency Services at McLeod Regional Medical Center for increasing their participation, involvement and monies raised for the Employee Campaign. In addition, the McLeod Regional Environmental Services Team received the Inspiration Award for going above and beyond in their support of the Foundation from assistance with events to funds raised by their staff members.

Foundation Names Volunteer and Physician Champion of the Year

Each year, the McLeod Foundation honors special individuals whose consistent leadership has contributed significantly to the work of the organization. Volunteers are instrumental in helping the Foundation raise funds needed to support the programs and services of McLeod Health. These volunteers serve in championing the need for enhanced patient services in one of McLeod's seven hospitals or planning special events. Many improvements in patient care would otherwise not be possible.

In 2018, the McLeod Foundation honored two very deserving individuals: Ginger Sullivan as the Volunteer of the Year and Dr. Michael Pavy as the Physician Champion of the Year.

Ginger Sullivan

In presenting the Volunteer of the Year award, Jill Bramblett, Executive Director of the McLeod Health Foundation, said, "The intent of this award is to shine a light on the extraordinary generosity of an individual that has made a remarkable difference in bringing about a positive change in our community."

"Ginger Sullivan, this year's Volunteer of the Year, has been a shining example of the very best that can be accomplished through philanthropy. Webster's Dictionary describes philanthropy as 'love of mankind.' Most of us think of it as giving something of value away. However, it has become more than simply supporting charitable causes and purposes.

"Philanthropy promotes the quality of life and includes volunteer service in addition to gifts. It is a human experience that is fully appreciated not only by those in need of help or assistance but by the giver that impacts the lives of others.

"Ginger is very special woman who leads by example every day. She inspires the best in us," added Bramblett. "Ginger dedicates her time and resources to make a difference in the healthcare needs of our region. Her generous heart has led to amazing work in the McLeod Cancer Center, the McLeod Hospice House, the Guest House at McLeod, the HOPE Fund for cancer patients and McLeod Children's Hospital. Through Ginger's work on committees and boards, she has used her generosity to effect change rather than to preserve the status quo. Her work has made a lasting impact for the 'love of mankind.'"

The McLeod Foundation also honors a physician whose exemplary role has assisted the efforts of the organization. Dr. Michael Pavy was chosen by the Foundation as the recipient of the Physician Champion of the Year for 2018.

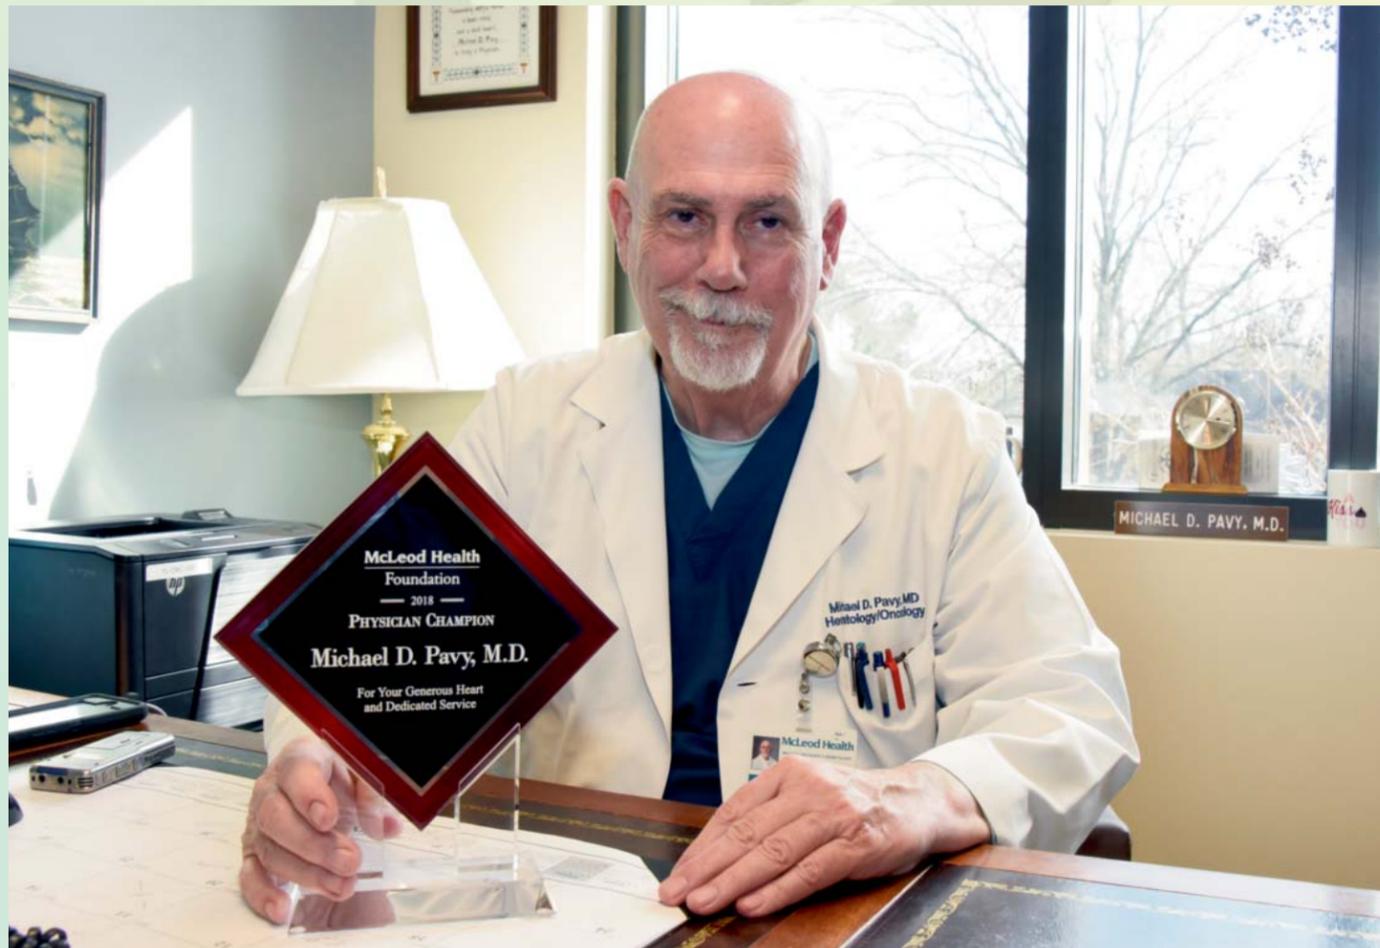

“Our hearts are touched by the courageous spirit of physicians who dedicate their lives to helping others,” said Roxanna Prezioso, Development Officer. “In the spirit of making a difference in our community, Dr. Pavy dedicates his time and energy to his patients, serves as an ambassador for the Foundation and gives generously from his heart. Clearly understanding the need for philanthropy, he has gone that extra mile to make an impact on cancer care at McLeod Health.”

When the HOPE (Helping Oncology Patient Everyday) Fund was established in 2014, Dr. Pavy immediately had a stake in the success of the fund, according to Prezioso. “While he, his partners and staff provide the very best clinical care for their patients, Dr. Pavy is well aware of the many life-changing financial issues that are barriers to care when a patient is undergoing cancer treatment. It was clear to him that donors to the HOPE Fund could provide assistance to patients who are struggling.

“He quickly grasped the concept of the healing power of gratitude and embraced the idea that physicians are the number one influencer for grateful patients. Through his encouragement and support of grateful patient efforts, Dr. Pavy has influenced hundreds to give to help McLeod cancer patients in their often difficult journey,” added Prezioso.

Dr. Michael Pavy was honored as the 2018 McLeod Health Foundation Physician Champion for his commitment and dedication to the HOPE Fund.

The following list represents members of the McLeod Foundation's Founders' Society. Our entire list of donors are recognized on the McLeod Foundation's website: www.mcleodfoundation.org.

The McLeod Health Foundation is pleased to honor YOU, our donors who generously support the Foundation. Your gifts help make it possible for us to support McLeod Health in providing healthcare for the people of our region.
